

Emerging Principles

We listen to communities and people with lived experience.

This work is complex, and we must explore root causes.

Nobody can solve issues of justice on their own, we will collaborate to move forward.

We will make decisions collectively utilizing a shared governance model.

We use data to help inform our decisions.

We listen to learn because this work requires diverse perspectives.